

ABOUT US

Business Intelligence Reports work closely with SMEs to support business growth by developing reporting toolkits which add real commercial value to their businesses.

We can work with your business to implement a range of interactive on-demand reports allowing you to save time, improve business efficiency and to make more informed business decisions based on reliable data rather than guesswork.

The reports we develop can be accessed from across your existing computer network and act as an extension to your existing computer software. This avoids the expensive requirement to source an alternative software solution to support the strategic objectives of your business.

If we feel we can add value to your business we will also include a proposal of the business support services which we can offer.

Subject to acceptance, we will then agree a future development plan with your team and start working on adding value to your business. Finally we will review the plan on an ongoing basis with you and your team.

UNLOCK YOUR COMPANY DATA AND IMPROVE YOUR BUSINESS

More often than not, the data that a business needs to analyse in order to provide valuable insight is stored somewhere on one or more computer systems. The link that is usually missing is the ability to pull the data from all of these different sources into a centralised repository which can be easily accessed.

Working with multiple data sources both offline and online is something we have considerable experience in. Once a company unlocks this data barrier, the efficiency performance gains which can be achieved are considerable.

BENEFITS OF USING BUSINESS INTELLIGENCE

There are a number of benefits that using business intelligence can bring. Whilst there are too many to list, here are 6 key benefits that your business can achieve through implementing business intelligence reports:
